APPENDIX E.—REGULATIONS FOR THE WEARING OF ORDERS, DECORATIONS, AND MEDALS.

SECTION A.

The following regulations for the wearing of orders, decorations, and medals by officers and other ranks of the New Zealand Military Forces will be observed:

1. Decorations and Medals.

Method of Wearing.

Decorations and medals will be worn on the left breast in a horizontal line suspended from a single bar or bracket in the form of a brooch.

Medals are to be worn in order of the dates of the campaigns for which they have been conferred, the first obtained being placed farthest from the left shoulder.

Decorations will be worn on the right of medals in order of seniority, the senior decoration farthest from the left shoulder.

Medals awarded by the Royal Humane Society will, when authorized, be worn in a position corresponding with war-medals, on the right breast.

When the medals and decorations cannot, on account of their number, be suspended from the bar so as to be fully seen they are to overlap.

The first-earned clasp should be worn nearest the medal.

(a.) Miniature decorations and medals will be worn with mess dress and with evening dress (plain clothes) on State, public, and official occasions. They should be worn on the left breast in one horizontal line, one inch below the point of the shoulder, suspended from a bar of which no part is to be seen. The lengths of the bars must vary with the number of miniatures, but in no case should it project beyond the lapel or shoulder-seam of the jacket. When the miniatures cannot, on account of their number, be suspended from the bar so as to be fully seen they are to overlap.

A Knight Grand Cross, Knight Grand Commander, Knight G.C., 1923, Commander, or Commander will wear the miniature of the companionship or membership of the order.

In evening dress (plain clothes) the broad-ribbon star and badge will be worn in addition to the miniatures.

(b.) Collar-badges, when worn on the mess jacket, will be placed three-quarters of an inch below the medals.

All staves of officers will be worn in reverse order, and in evening dress (plain clothes) on State, public, or official occasions. They will not be worn in mess dress.

All stars of orders will be worn in reverse order, and in evening dress (plain clothes) on State, public, or official occasions. They will not be worn in mess dress.

Note: (military and civil) is distinct from the Order of Merit instituted in gold, can be worn in the United Kingdom by ruling chiefs.
5. EI RAMAND AND BADGES OF ORDERS.

Broad Ribands.—On State occasions Knights Grand Cross and Knights Grand Commanders will, when in review order or in evening dress (plain clothes), wear the broad ribands of the orders over the right shoulder and under the sash and belt. The ribands of the Orders of the Garter and Thistle will be worn over the left shoulder.

Badges of Orders worn round the Neck.—Only one riband and badge i.e., the senior one is worn round the neck, with the riband under the shirt-collar and the badge over the tie. An officer in possession of more than one badge will wear the badge of the senior order as above described, and that of the other badges, one below the other, each suspended from its riband, the first emerging about ½ inch immediately below the top button-hole of the jacket. A small eye is stitched inside the coat, to which the riband is fastened by a hook.

In evening dress (plain clothes) one badge only is worn round the neck and as a rule the senior badge is thus worn, unless a junior should appear more appropriate to the occasion. The riband from which this badge is suspended is worn under the white tie, the badge hanging about 1 inch below. All badges are worn in miniature also on the lapel of the coat.

6. FOREIGN DECORATIONS AND MEDALS.

The rules governing the wearing of British decorations also apply to foreign decorations for which full permission has been given to be worn. Foreign decorations for which private permission has been given will be worn in full dress, in mess dress, and in evening dress (plain clothes) on the occasions specified in the letter of authority only, on the left of all British decorations and medals. The ribands of such decorations will not be worn in undress or service dress unless by special direction of the Sovereign (as in the case of those conferred during the Great European War). Miniatures of such decorations will only be worn on the occasions mentioned in the letter of authority (other than those conferred during the Great European War) when mess or evening dress (plain clothes) is worn.

Foreign medals other than war-medals are governed by the same rules as foreign decorations. A foreign war-medal the wearing of which has been sanctioned by His Majesty, or its riband or miniature, will be worn in all orders of dress in the same way as British medals.

SECTION II.

7. ORDER OF DRESS FOR CIVILIANS (MEN OR WOMEN).

It is correct for civilians (men or women) to wear evening dress at levees, swearing-in ceremonies of a new Governor-General, at the opening of Parliament and evening functions at Government House, and at evening functions which the Governor-General is known to be attending officially.

(1.) The General Officer Commanding the Forces, and Members of all Orders, at military functions.

The regulations laid down for the Military Forces will be adhered to so far as they relate to State, official, or public occasions.

* In the case of a K.C.M.G., who is also a C.B., the senior badge is that of a K.C.M.G.; similarly in the case of a K.C.B. who is also a C.B., the badge of the K.C.B. would take precedence.
5. Ribands and Badges of Orders.

Broad Ribands.—On State occasions Knights Grand Cross and Knights Grand Commanders will, when in review or in evening dress (plain clothes), wear the broad ribands of the orders over the right shoulder and under the neck and belt. (The ribands of the Orders of the Garter and Thistle will be worn over the left shoulder.)

Badges of Orders worn round the Neck.—Only one riband and badge—i.e., the senior one—i.e., worn round the neck, with the riband under the shirt-collar and the badge over the tie. An officer in possession of more than one badge will wear the badge of the senior order as above described, and that of the other badges, one below the other, each suspended from its riband, the first emerging immediately above the top button-hole of the jacket. A small eye is stitched inside the coat, to which the riband is fastened by a hook.

In evening dress (plain clothes) one badge only is worn round the neck, and—more appr. worn of the

"66. Emblems."

The following emblems may be worn on the ribands of certain decorations and medals:

(a.) Victoria Cross.—A miniature replica of the cross in bronze. The award of a bar to the original decoration will be marked by the addition of a miniature Victoria Cross to the riband, an additional cross being added for each bar awarded.

(b.) D.S.O., R.B.E., M.C., D.C.M., M.M., M.S.M.—A silver rose to denote that the wearer has been awarded a bar to the original decoration or medal. An additional rose will be added for each bar awarded.

(c.) The emblems referred to in (a) and (b) do not form part of the decoration or medal, and are not to be worn on the riband when the decoration or medal is worn, or on minatures.

(d.) Victory Medal.—An oak-leaf in bronze to denote that the wearer was mentioned in military despatches during the war 1914-1919. The oak-leaf is issued in three sizes. The largest will be worn with the medall attached to centre of riband at an angle of 60° from the inside edge of the riband, stem to the right, when the medal is not worn; and the smallest will be worn in the riband of the minature affixed in the same way as the largest.
